FROM THE MOUNTAINS TO THE SEA

Your journey begins with a docent-led hike in rugged, oak-filled Weir Canyon. It then takes you south through six jurisdictions - five cities and a portion of the County of Orange - guaranteeing that the only constant on this trek is an exhilarating change of scenery and topography. The Mountains to Sea Trail – the backbone of the 50,000-acre Irvine Ranch Natural Landmarks – was created through cooperative municipal planning to let people of all ages and abilities experience unimpeded the magnitude, magnificence and diversity of the Natural Landmarks.

From Weir Canyon to Irvine and Peters Canyon Regional Parks, past the historical Irvine Ranch agricultural headquarters and along the San Diego Creek Channel to Upper Newport Bay there’s no more enjoyable way to experience one of the nation’s most spectacular networks of parks, trails and preserved natural lands.

As you’re about to discover for yourself.

PETERS CANYON / SAN DIEGO CREEK / UPPER NEWPORT BAY

Whether you travel by bike, horse, on rollerblades or simply by putting one foot in front of the other, you’re in for a spectacular adventure as you explore the 22-mile “Mountains to Sea Trail” that traverses the historic 93,000-acre Irvine Ranch.

IRVINE RANCH Natural Landmarks
Let’s Go Outside!